RESILIENCE—MICHAEL GROSE

Build inner strength and coping skills in kids.

Resilience is a 21st Century parenting concept that every parent needs to understand. Promoting resilience in kids is not a single event but a continuous process that requires adults to be supportive and empathetic when things don’t go their way. It also requires you as a parent to have an understanding of resilience, so you have faith in yourself and your child’s ability to cope.

Some kids are resilient by nature - their temperament helps them to be mentally and psychologically tough. You know those kids. They get straight back up after a setback or disappointment. Rejection in the playground doesn’t faze them. Unfortunately, not every child has such natural resilience.

The good news is that most of the research shows that resilience can be nurtured and developed, particularly when parents themselves are resilient and they actively foster it in their kids.

Resilient kids share four basic skill sets— independence, problem-solving, optimism and social connection.

From a resilience perspective, parents need to coach kids through some of their more challenging moments and review what they may have learned for next time. Avoid solving all their problems for them.

You can promote a lasting sense of resilience in your kids by:

1. Having a positive attitude yourself. Your attitude as a parent impacts on their ability to bounce back from some of the difficulties they face. Make sure you model a ‘you can do it’ attitude for your child when he/she meets some of life’s curve balls.

2. Look for teachable moments. Many kids’ learning opportunities are disguised as problems. Make the most of these opportunities so that kids can grow and learn from some of the challenges they face.

3. Make kids active participants in the family. Active participation in a family develops the self-help, problem-solving and independence skills of kids that are necessary for resilience.

4. Build kids coping skills. There are plenty of strategies you can pass on to kids to help them cope when life doesn’t go their way, including acceptance, getting away for a while, and normalisation.

UV PROTECTION UPDATE

SunSmart’s Winter Vitamin D Message

You should all be aware of the importance of maintaining adequate vitamin D levels throughout the winter months.

It is recommended that faces, arms and hands (or equivalent area of skin) be exposed to the sun for two to three hours per week. Children and adults with naturally very dark skin may need three to six times this exposure amount.

UV levels vary throughout the state. UV levels for your area can be found by visiting the SunSmart UV Alert in the weather section of your daily newspaper or at http://www.sunsmart.com.au/.

A REMINDER
French Crepe (Pancake) & Awesome Parade
Wednesday 4th August, 2010

As part of the celebrations for our French Day, we will be having a special ‘French Assembly’. Madame Snow would like to invite students to participate in this wonderful whole school event.

Students are invited to create a painting or drawing related to France. It can be based on a French monument, a famous French painting, a place in France, French cuisine or famous French people... You may, if you wish, dress up as a French Painter! Use your imagination, the sky is your limit!

A parade will take place at 9:00 am on Wednesday 4th of August 2010. We can’t wait to see your fabulous masterpiece and costumes.

One free crepe will be given as a prize per grade.

During the morning our favourite chef ‘Robert’ will be cooking us delicious French Crepes.

Crepe Order forms will be sent out early in Term 3. When your notice arrives home, please fill it out with your child’s name, grade and how many crepes your child would like, then return it to school with the correct money in the envelope provided. Merci! Thank you for supporting the French Program.
